

TanTime™ System™ End Of Line Terminator, SY-EOL™ Instructions for Use.

What it is: The End of Line Terminator (EOLT) is a small electronic device used to terminate data signals in the last timer connected in a daisy chain. It is approximately 3" long and 1/2" wide with an 8 contact modular plug on one end and a red Light Emitting Diode (LED) at the other. (See Figure 1)

What it is for: The purpose of the EOLT is to terminate daisy chain communication signals in a manner that will prevent data errors in the system. The EOLT is plugged into the last timer in the daisy chain.

How to use it: Simply plug the EOLT into the 8 contact modular jack in the last timer of the daisy chain. (not for use with an RU-XM™ Timer.) The TanTime™ EOLT is an active device and requires 12 volts D.C. power. The 12 volts is usually supplied by the CAT-5 wiring of the daisy chain, but in a few cases power must be provided by the timer itself. The basic rule is: "If the LED on the SY-EOL™ does NOT illuminate when connected, use the alternate method specified by your specific TanTime™ System™ timer." (See specific Timer instructions.)
